Product Details

Step up with the Flash® Insulated Glove 280mm - (500V) | Class 00, the latest innovation in protective gear for those working in environments with electrical risks up to 500V. These gloves, brought to you by Flash®, a trusted name in safety and personal protective equipment, are meticulously designed to offer you a new level in protection and comfort.

Meeting the stringent requirements of IEC 60903:2014, the Flash® Insulated Gloves are your first line of defence against electrical hazards, providing peace of mind for electricians, maintenance workers, and any professional dealing with low-voltage installations. The rolled edge cuff adds to the durability and ensures a snug fit, preventing the gloves from rolling down during use.

With a generous length of 280mm, these gloves extend the protective barrier from the tips of your fingers to your lower forearm for comprehensive safety coverage. The design focuses on not just safeguarding the wearer against electrical risks but also on ensuring comfort and flexibility, enabling prolonged use without discomfort.

Features and Benefits

- 500V Working Voltage Protection: Tailored for safety in low-voltage environments, these gloves offer reliable protection for a wide range of electrical work.
- Compliance with IEC 60903:2014: Guarantees that the gloves have been tested and meet international standards for electrical insulation.
- Rolled Edge Cuff: Provides enhanced durability and ease of use, ensuring the gloves stay secure during tasks.
- 280mm Length: Offers extended protection, covering beyond the hands to protect the lower arms against electrical exposure.
- Ergonomic Fit: Designed for maximum comfort and dexterity, allowing for safe and precise operations.
